A groundbreaking study of Taiwan cinema Hong provides helpful insight into how it is taught and studied by taking into account not only the auteurs of New Taiwan Cinema but also the history of popular genre films before the 1980s. The book is essential for students and scholars of Taiwan film and visual studies and East Asian cultural history. Hong is particularly strong when it comes to analyzing the films of the new wave period and it is a pleasure to rethink these films in light of his sensitive and intelligent insights. Taiwan's national identity is made richer by scholars like Hong.
